Minox cassettes may be refilled with fresh film where suitable.

APS and Disc films are supplied from expired stock only. Disc film dates from approximately 1986–1994. APS film dates from approximately 2002–2008.

Due to age and storage history, results from expired film cannot be guaranteed. Colour shifts, reduced sensitivity, and increased grain may occur.

APS and Disc cartridges cannot be reloaded. Replacement cartridges are supplied where available.

FORMAT NOTES

Minox 8×11 mm

Minox film is supplied in reusable cassettes and does not use sprocket holes. All Minox film is handled and scanned individually due to the small negative size.

Disc Film

Disc film cartridges contain fifteen exposures on a flat plastic disc. Disc film does not use APS case codes or magnetic data. All Disc film is processed and scanned as fully exposed.

APS Film

APS cartridges may contain magnetic metadata and case codes. Where present, this information will be used during scanning.

PRINTING ADVICE

MS Hobbies does not offer direct photographic printing for Minox, Disc, or APS formats.

Minox and Disc scans print well using instant cameras such as Fuji Instax, where the small negative size and character of the format are well suited to instant output.

APS scans print very well using conventional digital printing services, including standard photo labs and home inkjet or dye-sublimation printers.

Customers are encouraged to review scanned files before printing to select appropriate size and output method.
